

Working as a bridge builder on an Irish construction site

Overview

By completing a one-day health and safety awareness course you can obtain this mandatory certification that grants you the legal ability to work on a construction site in Ireland. Employers will also look for Manual Handling training, which teaches you how to lift and carry. The successful Senior Civil Engineer will be involved in the design and delivery of a wide range of civil and structural projects, including marine and coastal infrastructure, public realm and active travel schemes, bridges, transport infrastructure, and complex multidisciplinary developments. Are you looking to get your start in construction industry?

The industry is currently full of opportunities for new entrants, with housing, infrastructure and commercial projects all taking place right now or are in plan to start soon. While a workforce shortage has made it challenging to secure skilled professionals for these areas, this also means exciting.
